TOPS® STRATEGIC ALLOCATION PORTFOLIOS FOR QUALIFIED RETIREMENT PLANS

What are the TOPS Strategic Allocation Portfolios?

The TOPS Strategic Allocation Portfolios are CIFs maintained by TD Ameritrade Trust that are designed to serve the investment needs of tax-qualified retirement plans. The CIFs are not mutual funds registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, ("1940 Act"), and CIF unit holders are not entitled to the protections of the 1940 Act. In addition, the CIFs' units are not securities required to be registered under the Securities Act of 1933, or applicable securities laws of any state or other jurisdiction. The regulatory requirements applicable to a CIF differ from those applicable to a mutual fund, although both types of funds commingle participants' assets with the objective of obtaining economies of scale in investment management. The CIF's units are not traded on an exchange or "over the counter" and, as a result, the unit values are not available for publication in the newspapers. Daily unit values may be obtained from the third-party administrator or recordkeeper for your employer's plan.

CIF Trustee

TD Ameritrade Trust is a Maine-chartered, non-depository trust company and a wholly owned subsidiary of TD Ameritrade Holding Corporation. TD Ameritrade Trust is not a member of FINRA or SIPC. TD Ameritrade Trust offers trust and custody services, including back-office support, to a wide range of employee benefit plans. Services are provided through TD Ameritrade Trust's institutional clients only, such as third-party administrators, recordkeepers, and Registered Investment Advisors. In addition, TD Ameritrade Trust serves as trustee of the CIFs described herein.

The CIFs are designed without reference to any particular investor. They are designed to create a non-individualized investment strategy, that is, without regard to any particular account's specific investment objectives, guidelines or restrictions. You, or you and your advisor, will need to decide which CIF or CIFs, or blends thereof, are appropriate for you and your account, taking into consideration all of your individualized factors, including diversification, investment objectives, guidelines or restrictions, portfolio composition and diversification, including any pre-existing or continuing holdings in your account. The investment objective and allocation strategies of each of the CIFs are:

Conservative Portfolio:

The Conservative Portfolio seeks to preserve capital and provide moderate income and capital appreciation by investing primarily in exchange-traded funds ("ETFs") that invest in corporate and government fixed income securities, common and preferred stocks, real estate, and natural resources securities. The Conservative Portfolio places a greater emphasis on fixed income ETFs than equity and real estate investments. The Conservative Portfolio may be appropriate for investors with intermediate-term investment time horizons who are seeking capital preservation as well as the opportunity for income and growth. Although the Fund is constructed in a manner intended to reduce volatility, the investment holdings are still subject to investment risk and loss of investment value.

Income & Growth Portfolio:

The Income & Growth Portfolio seeks to provide income and capital appreciation by investing primarily in ETFs that invest in corporate and government fixed income securities, common and preferred stocks, real estate and natural resources securities. The Income & Growth Portfolio places a greater emphasis on fixed income investments than equity, real estate, and natural resource investments, but less emphasis on fixed income investments than the Conservative Portfolio. The Income & Growth Portfolio may be appropriate for investors with intermediate-to-long-term investment time horizons who seek to earn income but still benefit from stock market growth. In exchange for reduced volatility, the investor is willing to accept a limited ability to benefit from growth.

Balanced Portfolio:

The Balanced Portfolio seeks to provide capital appreciation and income by investing primarily in ETFs that invest in corporate and government fixed income securities, common and preferred stocks, real estate, and natural resources securities. The Balanced Portfolio places a greater emphasis on equity, real estate, and natural resource investments than fixed income investments. The Balanced Portfolio may be appropriate for investors with intermediate to long-term investment time horizons who seek to balance income with a moderate level of volatility in exchange for potentially higher returns.

Moderate Growth Portfolio:

The Moderate Growth Portfolio seeks to provide capital appreciation by investing primarily in ETFs that invest in corporate and government fixed income securities, common and preferred stocks, real estate, and natural resources securities. The Moderate Growth Portfolio places a greater emphasis on equity, real estate, and natural resource investments than fixed income investments, and places less emphasis on fixed income investments than the Balanced Portfolio. The Moderate Growth Portfolio may be appropriate for investors with long-term investment time horizons who are willing to accept somewhat higher volatility in exchange for potentially higher returns.

Growth Portfolio:

The Growth Portfolio seeks to provide capital appreciation by investing primarily in ETFs that invest in corporate and government fixed income securities, common and preferred stocks, real estate, and natural resources securities. The Growth Portfolio places a greater emphasis on equity, real estate, and natural resource investments than fixed income investments, and has less emphasis on fixed income investments than the Moderate Growth Portfolio. The Growth Portfolio may be appropriate for investors with long-term investment time horizons who are willing to accept relatively high volatility in exchange for potentially higher returns.

Aggressive Growth Portfolio:

The Aggressive Growth Portfolio seeks to provide capital appreciation by investing primarily in ETFs that invest in common and preferred stocks, real estate, and natural resources securities. The Aggressive Growth Portfolio does not invest in corporate and government bonds. The Aggressive Growth Portfolio is appropriate for investors with long-term investment horizons who are willing to accept a high degree of volatility in exchange for potentially higher returns than those historically provided by more diversified asset allocations.

STRATEGIC ALLOCATION TARGET DATE PORTFOLIOS

Each of the Strategic Allocation Target Date Portfolios has a number associated with it that represents the year in which an investor expects to begin withdrawing money from the fund. Each of the Strategic Allocation Target Date Portfolios asset allocations will become more conservative over time, meaning that the percentage of assets allocated to stocks and alternative assets will decrease, while the percentage of assets allocated to fixed income and cash will increase.

About Risk

Units in CIFs are not deposits or obligations of, or endorsed or guaranteed by, TD Ameritrade Trust or its affiliates, and the units are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") or any other independent organization. The CIFs are also subject to investment risks, including possible loss of the principal amount. There is no assurance that the stated objective of a particular CIF will be achieved. The potential risks applicable to the CIFs include, but are not limited to, the following:

Market Risk. CIFs are subject to market risk, which is the chance that the value of the investments in the CIF may decline over time, causing a reduction in the value of the CIF. Stock markets tend to move in cycles, with periods of rising stock prices and periods of falling stock prices. Bond markets also usually move in cycles, with bond values being inversely related to changes in interest rates. As interest rates rise, the value of a bond tends to decrease, and as interest rates decline, the value of a bond tends to increase.

Foreign Market Risk. A CIF that invests in funds holding foreign securities may also be subject to the risks of investment in foreign markets. Investing in foreign markets can involve a greater level of risk, as there is often a lower degree of market volume and liquidity than in the U.S. markets, and this may result in higher price volatility. In addition, currency risk must also be considered. Foreign securities are denominated in foreign currencies, which may change in value in relation to the U.S. dollar, possibly for long periods of time. When a foreign currency declines in value in relation to the U.S. dollar, the return on foreign investments may likewise decline. Foreign governments may also intervene in currency markets or impose approval or registration processes, which could adversely affect the value of the CIF.

Real Estate Risk. A CIF that invests in funds holding real estate securities (for example, REITs) involves many of the risks of investing directly in real estate, such as declining real estate values, changing economic conditions and increasing interest rates, which could adversely affect the value of the CIF.

Commodity Risk. A CIF that invests in funds holding commodity investments is subject to commodity price fluctuations. Commodity prices generally fluctuate in relation to, among other things, the cost of producing commodities, changes in consumer demand for commodities, hedging and trading strategies of commodity market participants, disruptions in commodity supply, weather, and political and other global events, which could adversely affect the value of the CIF.

Small- and Mid-Cap Risk. A CIF that invests in small-capitalization and mid-capitalization companies may be subject to price volatility. The securities of both small-cap and mid-cap companies may trade less frequently and in smaller volume than larger, more established companies. Accordingly, their performance can be more volatile, and they face greater risk of business failure, which could, depending on the allocation of the CIF's assets to such sectors, increase the volatility of a CIF's performance.

ETF Risk

A CIF that invests in ETFs is subject to unique risks. Like stocks or bonds, ETFs carry market risk and could decline in value because of current events, supply and demand and other conditions that may affect the sector or group of industries the ETF represents. ETFs are able to trade intraday. However, a CIF that invests in an ETF will trade utilizing the last composite price for the ETF. Trading prices of ETFs may not reflect the actual net asset value of the underlying securities. In addition, ETFs will occasionally distribute capital gains that may impact the performance of the CIF.

A particular CIF may or may not contain one or more of the asset types described above. Please refer to the CIF's Fact Sheet for information regarding asset allocation.

Who May Want to Invest

The CIF may be an appropriate investment for investors seeking professional management of their retirement account assets.
